Dear Mr. Steven Chu:

In response to Representative Edward Markey's comment that was submitted on December 14th, we would respectfully disagree with his contention that the liquefied natural gas (LNG) export study commissioned by the Department was flawed.

We are Energy Citizens, and we support the export of natural gas to strengthen America's economy and create jobs here at home. We were very pleased to learn that the Department of Energy's recent study of exporting LNG found that it will likely provide net economic benefit to the U.S.

Exporting LNG is an amazing opportunity for America and should be allowed without unnecessary restriction. Sharing our plentiful resources with our trading partners around the world will reduce our country's trade deficit. Producing more clean burning natural gas will also help reduce global greenhouse gas emissions and create tens of thousands of jobs here at home.

Minimizing or eliminating barriers to trade will drive investment in America's energy industry and make the best possible use of both the abundant resources we are so fortunate to have as well as the technology we have developed.

We urge you to stand by these findings and share them with other leaders in Washington and across the country. Exporting LNG is right for America and deserves support from the government. We are grateful for the hard work of your team at the Department of Energy.

Sincerely,
Richard and Vicky Galloway
